

U.S. Government Online

A FOCUSED, ACCESSIBLE ONLINE RESOURCE FOR THOSE LEARNING ABOUT AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

The screenshot shows the homepage of the U.S. Government Online resource. At the top left, there is a logo for 'Facts On File' and the title 'U.S. Government Online'. To the right of the title, there are links for 'Guest', 'Folder Log In', and 'Saved Items'. Below the title, there is a navigation menu with 'Home', 'Subjects', 'Resources', and 'Help'. A search bar is located on the right side of the navigation menu. Below the navigation menu, there are links for 'Dictionary', 'Advanced Search', 'Search History', and 'Search Other Databases'. The main content area is divided into several sections. On the left, there is a large image of the White House, followed by a list of topics: 'Legislative Branch', 'Executive Branch' (highlighted with a star), 'Judicial Branch', 'Constitution and Foundations of U.S. Government', 'Citizenship and Civic Responsibilities', and 'Elections and Political Parties'. Below this list is a section titled 'Government and Politics in the News' with a list of recent news items: 'Ginsburg cancer revives talk of vacancy', 'Gov. Sebelius said to be top HHS candidate', and 'Poll: Obama's stimulus work rates high'. There is also a link for 'All Recent News'. On the right side, there is a 'Topic Index' section with a list of topics: 'Domestic Policy', 'Economic Issues', 'Federal Agencies and Commissions', 'Foreign Policy', 'Political Issues', 'Political Thought and Theory', 'Religion and Politics', and 'State and Local Government'. Below the Topic Index is a 'Special Feature' section with a video thumbnail and the title 'Women in Congress', followed by the text 'Female Legislators Often Consider How Laws Uniquely Affect Women. More »'.
